

1. How far in advance should I plan my destination wedding?

This really varies with the destination. One major factor is how many guests are going to be invited. For a traditional wedding a month or two is acceptable notice for "Save the Date" cards. Destination Weddings however involve travel arrangements, and therefore should be sent out at least 6-8 months in advance. This is to allow the guests to properly budget and plan for the trip, and to make sure that they are able to obtain reservations.

2. Will I need a wedding coordinator to handle the ceremony at my destination wedding location?

Depending on the ceremony details, it is recommended that you work with someone at the location to help finalize the details. Many resorts and hotels have on-site wedding coordinators, who maintain reputable local vendor lists, and can help organize your big day. Cornerstone Travel also maintains a list of reputable wedding coordinators in most destinations, who are available to assist as well. We will stay involved with you throughout the planning process.

3. What are the legal requirements when getting married out of the country?

This depends on the location of your destination wedding. We will provide you with information on all local and legal requirements.

4. Do you have a list of resorts that you work with?

We can work with just about any resort out there. Because our top priority is assuring your Destination Wedding is perfect, we do try to stay with properties that we have worked with in the past for other couples.

5. How are all your services free to me and my guests? What's the catch?

Simply put, there is no catch - ours is a "win win" relationship. Because we are reimbursed by our suppliers, we are able to offer all of our services complimentary to you and all of your guests. Because of our commitment to making your dream Destination Wedding a reality, we simply ask you to commit to making your travel arrangements with us, and encourage your family and friends to do so as well.

6. I'm concerned about my guests being able to afford to come, what does a Destination Wedding cost for the guests? And do we have to pay for our reservations in full right away?

Because we custom build every wedding to the unique dreams and needs of our couples, each wedding is different, as are the costs. Most guests will purchase a 3-night package, and historically we have seen these packages start at $750. This is dependent upon many variables including, but not limited to, availability, hotel, time of year, etc. It is very rarely feasible to assume a guest travel budget of less than $750, so consider that a good estimate.
